Pennsylvania DEP is Now Accepting Applications for Clean Energy Projects

The State of Pennsylvania is offering more than $16 million in funding to help develop clean energy projects that will save energy and money for those who develop them, create jobs and improve the environment. The grant program is being funded by the Pennsylvania Energy Development Authority (PEDA).

As with many of these grant opportunities, the fuse is short. Applications must be submitted by June 15th. The scope is similar to those in the past, promoting technologies including geothermal, cogeneration, fuel cell, bio mass, etc. There is a separate program available for solar and wind.

Managing these grant submissions can be a daunting process with the inundation of paperwork and requirements. PWI has managed numerous grant applications for several of our existing clients, resulting in over $7 Million of awarded funding to incorporate cogeneration facilities, lighting upgrades, CHP installations, etc.

Please let us know if we can assist you in any way with pursuing these grants. Contact us with any questions at 215-241-9100.
